

BOARD OF REVIEW COMPLETES WORK

Adjourned Tuesday Evening — Final Report Shows Increase of $327,290 in County's Taxables.

COMPARATIVE TABLE GIVEN

State Tax Board Will Assess Property of Railroad and Like Companies. Mortgage Exemptions.

The county board of review, which has been in session at Brownstown for the past thirty days, as provided by law, completed its work Tuesday evening. The board was composed of County Assessor Cross, Auditor William Wacker, Treasurer Henry Price, James Honan, of Seymour, and Henry Kattman, of Brownstown. The two latter were appointed by the judge.

The board added considerable omitted property during its session. A loss is shown in the amount of taxables in Vernon township, this being accounted for by the heavy losses caused by the floods last spring. In this township the assessor's report showed a loss, but the omitted property found by the county assessor and the board more than made up this apparent loss, so that a gain is shown.

The final report showed an increase over last year in the taxables of the county of $327,290, divided as follows: Additional improvements on land, $13,790; additional improvements on lots, $53,780; personal property, $259,720.

The value of taxables in the county as returned by the assessors and equalized by the board of review is shown to be $12,497,960. This does not include the taxable property of railroad, telegraph telephone, express and sleeping car companies, their assessment being fixed by the State tax board. Last year $2,264,560 were added to the county's taxables from this source by the state board. It is supposed the amount will not be less this year, which would make the total taxables of the county between fourteen and fifteen million dollars.

The following table shows the total value of taxables of the county this year, exclusive of the value of the properties mentioned above, as assessed by the state board. The values for 1909 are also given in comparison:

	1909	1910
Driftwood	$ 817,840	$ 859,630
Grassy Fork	552,640	571,130
Brownstown	1,115,010	1,158,510
Washington	546,470	573,250
Jackson	1,090,360	1,106,520
Redding	920,140	949,050
Vernon	582,460	580,020
Hamilton	1,214,560	1,289,770
Carr	927,690	961,960
Owen	522,600	523,020
Salt Creek	404,010	420,660
City Seymour	2,738,540	2,742,490
Brownstown	498,710	532,170
Crothersville	239,640	229,780

Total... 12,170,670 12,497,960

The total value of personal property in the county is $3,857,190 as compared with $3,597,470 last year.

The number of taxable polls in the county is given as 4,113, as compared with 4,185 last year. The mortgage exemptions claimed this year amount to $390,060; in 1909 they amounted to $359,080.

It was noted this year that much more cash on hand is shown than for several years past. A large part of it was shown on the farmers' tax lists. The board fixed the assessments of thirty-seven corporations in the county and ten banks. There are eleven banks, but the one at Freetown was not organized until after March 1.

CROTHERSVILLE MAN CONSTRUCTING AIRSHIP

Inventor Expects to Have Aircraft Ready for Exhibition Within a Few Weeks.

An inventor, whose name has heretofore been unknown in the scientific world, is said to be working on an airship and expects to have the craft completed and ready for exhibition some time during July. Just how the ship will be propelled or how it will be constructed has not yet been given to the public and the inventor refuses to talk of his new machine.

It is reported that he is working on his airship in his workshop which he has arranged in his barn and that most of the work is done when his neighbors are asleep. He has been very careful about allowing visitors near his workshop and only a very few of his most intimate friends knew of the machine. It is not known whether the airship will be for passenger service or for demonstration, but it has been rumored that he will soon arrange to inaugurate a passenger service between this city and Brownstown in place of the traction line, about which so much has been said during the past few years.

Will Go to Panama.

George Fleenor, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Frank Brown, at Crothersville, for several days, left for New York Tuesday afternoon and Saturday will sail for Panama, where he has accepted a position as telegraph operator in the government service. He has been in the regular army since the Spanish-American war, having served in the Philippines and the last few years in the signal corps on the Atlantic coast in New York. He was given his discharge about a week ago.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors for their kind words and assistance during the burial of our father, William Baumeister. We wish also to acknowledge the beautiful floral designs and thank especially the Rev. James Omelvena for his comforting words and the members of the Court of Honor for their assistance. We shall ever hold them in grateful remembrance. THE CHILDREN.

Keepsake Lamp Taken.

A lamp belonging to John Himler, living opposite the city park entrance, was loaned to the ticket seller Monday night and was taken away from the stand by somebody. The lamp was valued as a keepsake in the family and the Fourth of July committee as well as the family is very anxious that it be returned by whoever has it.

Operation Performed.

Dr. H. R. Kye returned from Indianapolis this afternoon, where his wife underwent an operation at the Methodist hospital at 9 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Kye recovered from the effects of the operation and her condition is very satisfactory.

The Progressive Music Company has sold a fine Clough & Warren piano to Lawrence Eldridge, of East Third street.

W. G. Hutchinson is suffering with rheumatism of the arm, which is giving him much pain.

PARDON DISCUSSED.

Attorney for Walsh Appeared Before Board of Pardons.

John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker now at Leavenworth prison, was the subject of a conference held at the Department of Justice recently. Geo. T. Buckingham, of Chicago, counsel for Walsh, had a long talk with Pardon Attorney Finch, in which the whole question of the banker's case was discussed.

The attorney did not indicate when Walsh would petition the President for a pardon, but considerable information was gleaned as to the procedure necessary. A number of friends have urged the President to pardon the banker, but the latter thus far has refrained from sending any petition.

SUFFERS PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Mary Weithoff Seriously Ill at Deaconess Hospital, Louisville.

Mrs. Mary Weithoff has suffered a serious stroke of paralysis at the Deaconess hospital, Louisville. She has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Winkenhoefer. A few days ago, Mrs. Winkenhoefer and little daughter, went to Huntington to spend a month visiting relatives and friends. But her return home was hastened by the telegram announcing the serious condition of her mother. She came home by way of Louisville, and found her mother well cared for and receiving every possible attention, but in a very serious condition. Her entire body seems to be affected by the stroke.

Police Court.

The police arrested John Brown, colored, Tuesday afternoon upon the charge of intoxication, and in police court this morning he was fined $5 and costs.

George Jones, of Scottsburg, was also arrested and fined the same amount.

City Marshal J. T. Abell took Harry Gray and Durham Bagwell to Brownstown this morning to lay out their fines in the county jail.

Camping Party.

A camping party composed of Misses Martha Keach, Edith Robertson and Marie Boyd, Walter Keach and Hugh Clark, of Brownstown, and Joe McDonald, of Seymour, went to Shieldstown this morning where they will spend a few days outing on the river.

League Social.

The Epworth League of the German M. E. church will give its July social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spray, corner Seventh and Booth streets, Thursday evening, July 7, at 8 o'clock.

Bi-Weekly Club.

Mrs. Mike Fox is entertaining very pleasantly this afternoon, at her home on East Second street, for the members of the Bi-Weekly Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, of the hospital, and Frank J. Voss Furniture Company contributed to the furnishing of the hospital headquarters for the Military Jubilee, which came in very good place, as five patients are reported to have been treated by the physicians in charge.

Arthur Parsley who will have charge of the construction work for the new electric light company, has moved with his family into the Heins residence on North Chestnut street.

JUBILEE CLOSES IN HEAVY RAIN

Steady Downpour Prevents Thousands of Visitors from Attending Celebration at Park.

PONY IS STILL UNCLAIMED

Celebration Pronounced a Success In Spite of Unfavorable Weather on Both Days.

The two days' celebration, given by the First Battalion of Seymour, closed Tuesday evening in one of the heaviest rains that has fallen in this city for many months. The committees having the jubilee in charge, were fearful that there might be unfavorable weather on one of the days, but were greatly disappointed in the heavy showers which fell on both the Fourth and fifth. The rain Tuesday evening began shortly after 7:30 o'clock and continued throughout the evening, thus preventing hundreds of visitors from going to the park, where the celebration was held.

When the rain began to fall there was a crowd of several hundred at the park, but these returned to their homes or hunted places of shelter as soon as possible. The hacks did a rushing business and were unable to bring the passengers to the city as rapidly as they desired.

Much interest was manifested in the pony which was used as an advertising feature for the jubilee. It is not known yet who will receive the pony.

The prizes for the best decorated float and automobile have been awarded by the committee, composed of Misses Bertha Wyman, of Washington; Bertha Hanger, of Scottsburg, and Catherine Zapp, of Madison. The silver loving cup, which was offered for the best decorated automobile, was awarded to T. S. Blish, and a similar prize for the best decorated float to W. L. Johnson.

In spite of the disagreeable weather the stands report that they had a profitable business and were well pleased with the business, considering the circumstances under which the celebration was held. The members of the various attractions were also well pleased with the courteous treatment accorded them while in the city, and expressed a desire to return when future celebrations were given.

The celebration, as a whole, was a success, and although the weather kept hundreds from attending, the attendance was good and the performances enjoyed by thousands of visitors. The railroads did a good traffic and the interurban cars were all crowded.

It was expected that the "Hayseed Reversible Quartette," from Kurtz, would be one of the special features for Tuesday, but for some reason the members did not appear. The quartette had been recommended very highly by those who had heard them, and it was somewhat of a disappointment when they did not arrive.

Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hadley entertained a company of relatives Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock dinner, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leland and daughter, of Arcola, Ill., who are visiting relatives here for a few days.

FIELD EXAMINERS' DATA.

George H. Bittler Will Prepare Them for Purposes of Prosecution.

George H. Bittler, one of the deputies to Chief Examiner W. A. Dehority, of the state board of accounts, has been assigned the task of preparing for turning over to the proper prosecuting officials, data collected by the field examiners of the state board in the examination of township and city records thus far completed. The data thus prepared will be filed with the Governor, and will be at the disposal of local officials, whose duty it is, under the law, to bring action for recovery of money found owing, as well as prosecute for criminal liability where the facts warrant. Several weeks will be required to complete this phase of the board's work.

The chief examiner is preparing affairs in the office to begin a general examination of the city and county offices of the state, which will probably be well under way by a month from now. The original number of examiners, which has dwindled from one hundred to about fifty, is to be recruited from applicants recently examined by the board concerning peculiar qualifications for city and county examinations.

A Request.

All persons who have grievances on account of the delinquencies of contractors to remove slops, or officers in charge of the removal of ashes and other refuse as provided in the ordinances of the city, will hereafter make their complaints to A. A. Davison, chairman of the Board of Public Works. Such complaints to be in writing and properly signed by the name of the complainant, and giving street and number.

Stockholders' Meeting.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Cooperative Building and Loan Association will be held at the office of the Association Friday evening, July 8, at 7 o'clock.

THOS. J. CLARK, Secy.

NOTICE.

The authorities having decided that the danger period having passed requiring dogs to be muzzled, will advise that all muzzles can now be removed.

Samuel Langhorne Clemens is dead.
Mark Twain will live forever.

Girls' names written on eggs are turned out of cold storage from one to three years old.

The man that wore his affinity's name in his hat band evidently had something on his mind.

Paris enthusiasts who are planning to prevent the slaughter of African fauna are a year too slow.

It is not the size of woman's hat so much as the cost of it that worries the man who pays the bill.

There is said to be a $5,000 government job in New York that nobody seems to want. It must be haunted.

No fight against the hat pin will gain enough of a victory to send feminine fashions back to bonnet strings.

If that London bank for women desires to win a big success it should make a specialty of 99-cent and $1.98 deposits.

An elevator has been installed in St. Peter's at Rome. Will somebody now please give the Sphinx an extension telephone?

Any man who loves his country should be willing to eat out of the government cook book without grumbling about it.

"Tom" Walsh left an estate worth $3,600,000, which is pretty good for one who once drove a mule team on the Erie canal.

Now science has achieved an invention to take the picture of beating hearts. This ought to make effective exhibits in love pleadings.

Economists who declare there is now too much gold will not exert any noticeable influence on the enthusiasm of the man with a mining prospectus.

The Duke of Manchester says the suffragette movement in England is a "fizzle." Just wait till some of the robust ones get after his Grace and see what happens to him.

As a matter of fact man is not in rebellion against buttoning up his wife's waist in the back. He likes anything that proves he is a convenience about the house.

If a working man, while intoxicated suffers injury in a workshop in France he may not recover damages from his employer. The French courts hold that drunkenness is inexcusable and constitutes contributory negligence. Such an interpretation of the law produces good results.

The law against expectation in public places should be impartially and steadily enforced. The present fight against the "white death" has brought its dangers fully to the public understanding, and those who will not give up their unsanitary and offensive habit of their own will should be made to do so for the benefit of others.

Nothing daunts the enthusiastic naturalist, and no one else has such sharp eyes as he. A New Yorker who has little time to go to the country to see the wild life states that even a stay-at-home can find enough to talk about. Within the city limits the following animals have been observed: a hermit thrush, a heron, an eagle, a screech owl, a fox, a white-tailed deer and a mink. This was, it should be added, exclusive of the Central Park menagerie.

After the ice is once broken anybody is free to jump in. The question of a large or a small family was once regarded by many as a personal concern; but since our late chief executive opened the subject everybody has felt free to pursue it. Among recent handlers of the topic is Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston, Ill. Mrs. McCulloch voices a growing sentiment in declaring that the careless rearing of a large family is less to be desired than the careful rearing of a small one. Fewer and better children would be her idea. She would welcome forethought and a reasonable apprehension of the general conditions governing our day. This argument doubtless has validity within the bounds of any single country, separately considered. But the modern world is composed largely of some eight or ten dominant national units which are in competition with one another. In such circumstances numbers count. The brute force derived from bulk and mass is a prime element in national success. A people of forty millions, however happy at home, cannot successfully withstand a population of sixty millions, however the latter may be embarrassed by overpopulation and discontent. A patriotic population will endeavor to multiply itself. Its members, taking a hint from Anatole France, will not be unwilling to contribute through their private misery to the public good. One exception may be made: A country which enjoys the hearty cooperation of multitudinous newcomers. Such a fortunate land may properly aspire to quality as well as quantity and reasonably hope to compass both. We trust Mrs. McCulloch and Mr. Roosevelt will find here good ground for a compromise.

A pathetic story of Mark Twain's life points the familiar moral that the American sense of humor is overdeveloped. As a people we are so afraid of losing the point of a joke that we hasten to laugh at grave or even tragic things when presented in a new aspect. It is a story as old as history that discoverers in science or prophets in religion are received at first with neglect and mockery. Americans go a step farther and profess to find food for the comic spirit in the first presentation of moral or social discoveries. They pervert the old Roman proverb into the notion that everything that is new must be funny. Darwin was despised and rejected in England, but it was reserved for Americans to turn his theory of descent of the primates from a remote common ancestor into the ridiculous idea that the monkey is the direct ancestor of man. After this we need not be surprised when the first rational theory of the development of the Superman, however imperfectly conceived and presented, is greeted with ribald laughter and perverted to a scheme of government of the world by oriental sorcery. Mark Twain, under stress of financial need, was a serious inventor as well as humorous writer. He was a better earner than husband of money. Doubtful investments allured him and his royalties melted like April snows. Then his mind turned to inventions like his successful scrap book and abortive hatpin. The latter was a simple spiral which could not fall out or be stolen, and he tried to interest Wall Street in it when he was in financial difficulties. In spite of half a day's grave demonstration with a model pin and an imitation coiffure, the street insisted that he was joking and sent him back to his creditors with shouts of laughter. That is a common fate of discoverers in all times.

RINDY'S WEDDING TRIP.

When Phillip Lee married pretty, inexperienced little Isabel Watts, his mother made noteworthy sacrifice for their happiness by transferring to the kitchen of the young couple Aunt Rindy, who had prepared the Lee food for a generation. But possibly even discerning Mrs. Lee did not then know the full value of the treasure she relinquished.

Aunt Rindy at once took "them chilluns" affairs into her motherly black hands. Even when an autumnal happiness entered her own life, she did not overlook "Miss Belle" and "Mistah Phil"; she put endless tender forethought into her preparations for their comfort during the week of her own absence on her wedding trip, when her young mistress was to make her first attempt at housekeeping.

After putting the whole house in exquisite order Aunt Rindy late in the day the evening of which was to see her wedded to "Uncle Jerry," departed, tired but happy, carefully carrying her wedding gown, a gift from "them chilluns," done up in a clean sheet.

On the following morning young Mrs. Lee, descending to the kitchen, started back in dismay.

"Why, Aunt Rindy!" she gasped. "Didn't you get married to Uncle Jerry?"

"Deed I did, Miss Belle!" Rindy turned a beaming face from the coffee. "We jes' had the gran'est wedding!"

"But your wedding trip?"

"Now don' yoh say nothing mo, honey! My, when I gotter thinking 'bout yoh burnin' yore little fingers roun' the hot stove, an' Mistah Phil eatin' mos' anything er nothin', 't all foh a whole week, an' me galavatin' roun'-w'y, I jes' couldn't do it."

"Cose, Jerry hn was sot on that trip, an' he made a fuss. But I says, 'Jah, Jerry, honey, here's that snap shot Mistah Phil took er me on the back verandy, peelin' taters—yoh kin jes' take that erlong, an' folks in yore ole town'll know jes' how Rindy looks.'"

"So I packed up his clo'es all nice, honey, an' he went early this mornin', happy's a jay-bird, on the wedding trip. When yoh done come in now, Miss Belle,"—Rindy's face sneamed actually transfigured—"I was jes' kinder 'maginein' Jerry settin' up in the cabs, looking out the window."

"La, honey, seems lak I'm gettin' mos' too much happiness, enjoyin' that there honeymoon erlong with Jerry, an' stayin' right here all time, taking keer o' yoh-all, same lak I've allahs done."—Youth's Companion.

To Start a Tight Screw.

Lots of folks have tried to remove a stubborn screw from a piece of wood, a screw that won't budge at all, and have in the end given it up as a bad job. Well, if such a thing occurs again don't give it up, don't lose your temper or exert yourself, but try this recipe for removing the screw: Heat a poker red hot and then hold it against the screw head for a little while; wait a few minutes for the screw to cool down, when it will be found that the screw can be removed quite easily with the same screwdriver that just previously would not perform the work. The explanation is quite simple. The red hot poker heats the screw, and the screw expands and makes the hole it is in just a wee bit bigger. The screw then cools down and resumes its original size, leaving the hole in the wood a size too large—and there you are.—New York Sun.

HOW DISCIPLINE CAME.

A Chinese General Who Taught Soldiers and King Alike.

Ho Ju said to Sun Tzu: "I have carefully perused your thirteen chapters. May I submit your theory of managing soldiers to a slight test?" Sun Tzu replied: "You may." Ho Ju asked: "May the test be applied to women?" The answer was again in the affirmative, so arrangements were made to bring 180 ladies out of the palace. Sun Tzu divided them into two companies, and placed one of the King's favorite concubines at the head of each. He then bade them all take spears in their hands and addressed them thus: "I presume you know the difference between front and back, right hand and left hand?" The girls replied: "Yes." Sun Tzu went on: "When I say 'Eyes front,' you must look straight ahead. When I say 'Left turn,' you must face toward your left hand. When I say 'Right turn,' you must face toward your right hand. When I say 'About turn,' you must face right around toward the back." Again the girls assented. The words of command having been thus explained, he set up the halberds and battle axes in order to begin the drill. Then to the sound of drums he gave the order "Right turn." But the girls only burst out laughing. Sun Tzu said: "If words of command are not clear and distinct, if orders are not thoroughly understood, then the General is to blame." So he started drilling them again, and this time gave the order "Left turn," whereupon the girls once more burst into fits of laughter. THE GENTLE ZEPHYR DID IT— MADE AMERICA GREAT

PROF. WILLIS L. MOORE, chief of the weather bureau, believes that the state of the wind is a factor in our daily health, knowledge of which should no more be neglected than whether we ate mushrooms or toadstools for dinner, or whether we blow out the gas at night or turn off the cock. If we are to accept Prof. Moore's declaration of independence, all fetiches or theories as to the cause of American supremacy must be cast aside and thrown to the winds—to the east wind, preferably. Preferably to the east wind, because that is the opposite of the west wind, and Washington's weather wonder-worker announces that it is to the west wind that Americans owe to-day what they proudly possess. It is because the west wind carries no disease, is highly electrified, bears ozone, has a "downward component," and in all respects is as virtuous and life-giving as its opposite, the east wind, is pernicious and life-destroying, that we are to-day a great nation and commercial leader.

"It is well known to meteorologists that easterly winds either hug the earth or have an upward component of motion," he says. "They, therefore, gather the humidity, dust, disease, and other bacteria, and, as a rule, they are warm and humid. All of these conditions make them foul winds, under which animal life is enervated and rendered susceptible to the germs which the winds themselves carry and disseminate. The converse is true of the northwest winds. They come from above, with a downward component of motion that bears a direct relation to the velocity. They come from the regions where the air is dry, pure, and highly electrified, and where ozone exists in comparatively large quantities. The cool, pure air of the north-west wind is, therefore, an invigorating air."

Seekers after health and restored vigor need only to pursue the west wind. The more constantly they are bathed in its ozone, electricity, and "downward component," the more speedy and complete will be their cure. In hospitals and sick rooms, when anxious friends are in agonies of suspense as to whether the patient will survive, or be pushed across the dividing line into other regions, doctors will be quite non-essential. All one needs is a weather vane. If the wind bloweth from the west, all is well. The sick one will recover. But if the wind is from the east, abandon hope. Of course, if the letters on the weather vane be misplaced, accurate forecasts are impossible.

Summer visitors to the Atlantic coast would indignantly deny Prof. Moore's indictment of the east wind as foul and humid, while the hotel proprietors would be willing to make affidavits to the contrary. Science is not to be sneered at, though, and it must be a mere delusion that a vacation on our Eastern coast—sailing, bathing, and lying in the sand in the face of the east wind—is an aid to health and happiness. Henceforth "eastern shore" seems doomed to lose its friends; its winds are "foul." Japan, where east and southeast winds prevail for more than six months in the year, cannot be a progressive nation; the Moore theory forbids it. The Romans, who lived in Italy, which on the wind charts is dotted with arrows pointing in every direction, could not have been a great race of world conquerors; they had not sufficient west wind.

The climate of California has long been famed as one of the ideal spots of the world for human existence. Yet part of the secret of its delightful weather lies in the western winds, which coming from the vast expanses of the Pacific Ocean, are moist, not dry, and warm, not cool. On the other hand, the regions west of the Rocky Mountains and coast ranges, are for the most part arid and uninhabitable by man, except as artificial means are introduced by which he can raise enough for his sustenance. Yet the prevailing winds in the States of Arizona, New Mexico, parts of Idaho, and Utah are west winds. Further East are the prairie States, extending even beyond the Mississippi. That this entire section, now the home of millions of people, and producing food for millions more, does not form an American Sahara, is due to the influence of the Gulf of Mexico, in the opinion of the meteorologists. At the very moment of Prof. Moore's announcement, their works on his shelves united in declaring that the mountains of Mexico shunt the rainbearing winds of the gulf to the North, watering the corn-fields and grass plains of the West.

The opinion of most meteorologists seems to be that winds usually blow to the land from the ocean, carrying moisture. Their temperature is according to that of the water over which they pass. If transverse mountains are encountered, the wind is forced upward, losing heat as it rises, and thereby causing the condensation of its water vapor. If the mountains are very high, as the Rockies, when the wind reaches the summit of the range it will have lost all its moisture, and is much colder, having given up its energy.

Rushing down on the opposite side, it gains heat, through compression, without doing work, it is claimed, and therefore sweeps the lands beyond as a dry, warm wind, such as is found on every desert. In fact, it is declared that it is the mountains which make the deserts, drawing from the winds as they do all their life-sustaining moisture. Consequently, the character of the wind from any point of the compass seems mainly to be governed by the nature of the earth's surface over which it has passed or is passing. Further influences are the sun, as at the equator and the poles, where certain definite processes go on continually. Another influence which diverts the trade winds from their absolute north and south path is the rotation of the earth.

It is this variability in the climatic elements and differences of geographical situation which give to the countries of the earth their various climates. Thus is explained the fact that New England, with its easterly winds, and England, with its southwest wind—practically the prevailing wind of the entire season round—resemble one another in climate.

Much as one may enjoy gazing at the setting sun, descending within its shrine of glory, while the gentle twilight wind, which often comes from the west in this section fans one's face, there is little to be heard among other men of science in support of Prof. Moore's declaration.—Washington Post.

terms of the agreement then entered into no other revision was to be published until after fourteen years, so it was not until the summer of 1901 that the American standard edition of the revised edition was given out.

Translations in 450 Tongues.

Altogether, through the efforts of the society, translations of the bible have been made into about 450 languages and dialects.

At the present time the Bible Society is printing the bible in three of the languages of Africa which have never been used for writing. It is also printing bibles in five of the languages of the Philippines and slowly completing the printed list of thirty languages used in the islands of the south Pacific.

A great many of the books intended for distribution in the far east are printed in places other than New York. For example, there is a fine printing establishment at Yokohama under the auspices of the Bible Society which employs Japanese workmen under contract. From this place distribution is made to the Philippines and to Korea. The society also prints in Shanghai and Chentui and at Bangkok in Siam, and at Beirut in Syria similar work is done, some of it on presses belonging to the Presbyterian American Bible Society co-operates.

Many of the colporteurs, particularly those in the northwest, speak at least twenty different languages and continually requests are coming from them and from outside people begging that the bible may be translated into some dialect or language spoken in far-off points, the very names of which are unknown to the majority of New Yorkers. In the agency which distributes the scriptures from the city of San Francisco in California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington are Spanish-speaking Mexicans, Portuguese, one-half of all the Chinese in the United States, Japanese, Koreans, Hindoos, Malays, Hawaiians and Filipinos.

Early in its history the society made arrangements to supply bibles at half cost to hotels, steamboats and railroad cars, and at the principal seaports, with New York in the lead, a large number are regularly sent among the naval forces and among seamen generally. About a million and a half books have been distributed by the marine committee.

BAPTIST MINISTER QUILTS TO GO INTO BUSINESS.

Rev. Donald D. MacLaurin has resigned as pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Chicago and leaves the pulpit to embark on a business career.

The withdrawal of Dr. MacLaurin from the ministry is the result of his espousal of the cause of Prof. George Burman Foster of the University of Chicago before the Baptist ministers' conference of Chicago during the proceedings that resulted in the expulsion of the university lecturer from that body because of Unitarian utterances and writings.

Severe criticism of the action of the conference and the ministers who were responsible for it was voiced by Dr. MacLaurin, who declared that they were guilty of a "betrayal of the fundamental principles of the Baptist denomination." The retiring pastor said his defense of Prof. Foster was merely in the name of justice and that he would have defended any other member of the conference in the same way. "There is an impression throughout the country," said Dr. MacLaurin, "that because I defended Prof. Foster I share his religious views. This I wish to deny emphatically."

Dr. MacLaurin has been a Baptist minister thirty-six years, including the nine years he preached while working for his degree at Colgate University. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary society. He has been preaching in Chicago nearly three years, having come from New York city, and has been one of the city's most able and widely known ministers.

BEAR TEARS KEEPER.

With his body badly torn and mangled by teeth and claws and his left arm almost torn from its socket, Richard Spicer, a keeper at the Bronx Park Zoo, New York, was unconscious when rescued from the bear pit after a desperate struggle with an angry bear. He was removed to a hospital in a critical condition. Elwyn Sanborn, a photographer, escaped from the pit with minor hurts after a hard fight with the animal. Patcha, a huge brown Russian bear, who had always been considered mild-tempered, became angered when Spicer attempted to make her sit up with her cubs and pose for a photograph. First dealing him a terrific blow with her paw, she next seized him by the arm and dragged him into the den, clawing and mauling him. Sanborn grabbed an iron bar and rushed to the rescue of Spicer, who by that time had been rendered unconscious. Patcha turned on him, but the photographer managed to fight her off. His screams and the cries of a hundred spectators brought other attendants, who rescued the imperiled men.

LAND GRABBER TRICKS

Frauds by Which the Government
Is Swindled Out of Thousands of Acres.

OBSTACLES TO SETTLEMENT.

Cattlemen Put Up Fences That Practically Inclose Large Tracts of Public Domain.

There are thousands of easy-money men in the west to-day who are operating skin games as hackneyed in that section as is juggling the shells and pea in Indiana, William Atherton Du Puy says in the Indianapolis Star. The object of their operations is to get from Uncle Sam land to which they are not entitled. The same old games have been worked for generations.

Government lands are not highly prized in the sections where they are plentiful. The government is such an indefinite proprietor that no man has felt called upon to see that fraud is not perpetrated. To obtain illegal title to land has been classed with such jocular lapses of conscience as that which cheats one's neighbor in a horse trade or surreptitiously purloins watermelons. The government, through its agents, is thoroughly familiar with these methods, and it is to prevent them that much legislation is now pending.

There is yet an empire to be saved from unfair appropriation. The government to-day owns land, exclusive of Alaska, greater in extent than all that region east of the Alleghenies upon which dwell 30,000,000 people. There is enough of it to make twelve states like New York, two like Texas or fifty like Massachusetts. There are 30,000,000 acres of it designated as coal land and 30,000,000 acres that may be irrigated. There is enough water power on it to turn the spindles of the nation, present and future. It occupies the position with relation to the public that was held by the lands of Kansas a generation ago. The ingenious methods of its wrongful appropriation are many and interesting.

Great stockmen have much influence in state and county government in the west. The states have the authority to lease public land granted them by the national government for such purposes as the maintenance of schools and institutions. Through the influence of certain wealthy men of the ranches long strips of land are leased or sold. These strips are in such forms as to compare with the frame of a picture. That portion that would go to make up the picture itself is still government land. The stockmen have a perfect right, obviously, to put fences on the land they have bought or leased. But in so doing they inclose in their pastures vast amounts of government land, which, according to law, it is unlawful to fence. This land is practically withdrawn from other settlement, for the homesteader locating there would be cut off from the world by the fences and harassed beyond endurance by the cattleman and his cowboys.

Another method of avoiding the letter of the law in fencing government land is to inclose it almost but not quite. The fence around a field may lack but a foot of inclosing it and a stout post may stand on either side of this gap. No horse or cow could crowd through it. Yet the land is not inclosed by the fence.

The live stock companies also make many filings on land through their herders and cowboys, who take up homesteads of 160 acres each. The homesteader is supposed to reside upon the land to make proof for the purpose of obtaining title. Where the cowpunchers are on a big ranch and moving back and forth, they can, by building a small shack on 160 acres, make such pretense as to residence as to render it difficult to cancel the pending entry. In this way the companies are able to get title to large tracts, or at least control them for many years.

There are several transcontinental railroad lines to which Congress has given the alternate or odd sections of land for from twenty to forty miles on each side of their tracks. This was given as an inducement to the railroads to build into the desolate country in early times, but the result of it has been the loss of title to the government of land that is worth many times the cost of building the railroad. The odd and even sections are so laid out that the railroad companies' grants are as the black spaces on a checker board, the intervening red spaces being government land. Cattle companies purchase the odd sections from the railroads and run their fences to inclose vast areas, the fences crossing from one odd section to another at the points where these barely touch, as do the diagonal squares on the checker board. In this way the fences, strictly speaking, are on the land purchased from the railroads, but an equal amount of government land is likewise inclosed in the pasture. The Supreme Court has held that this does not violate the law. Yet it is practically impossible for the general public to get at even sections, and cattlemen are getting as much as they can from them as though they were actually owned by them.

BIBLES IN 450 TONGUES

INTEREST IN THE SCRIPTURES.

Ninety Million Copies Printed in Various Languages and at Prices to Suit Every Purse.

There is a door in a 4th avenue building in New York City which has all the hallmarks of shipping department doors in general—battered side posts, polished iron chutes, boxes on the sidewalk marked with names that seem to have been taken haphazard from a gazetteer, the New York Sun says. There is a special name attached to this particular door. This is the door of a million bibles. Out of this door each year 1,000,000 bibles pass to be distributed through the world.

The rumor that a conditional gift of $500,000 from Mrs. Russell Sage awaits the action of the bible society in raising a similar amount is confirmed. Already large sums have been received from the various agencies about the country to be added to the fund which is being raised. It takes approximately $600,000 to pay the expenses of the society each year and the $1,000,000 that the officials expect to receive through Mrs. Sage's gift will be considered in the light of a nest egg, something to depend on in financial depressions and slacking up of contributions.

It was Sir Walter Scott who in his last illness, after asking a friend to read aloud to him and hearing the interrogation as to the book desired, said, "There is only one." As to this "only one," there is, according to the statistics of the American Bible Society, no evidence that the interest of the human family has lapsed into indifference. A record of approximately

TRAMP'S TRIP Around the World

HARRY A. FRANCK, has followed in the footsteps of Wyckoff, the sociologist of Princeton University, and the late Josiah Flint in leading the life of a tramp. Unlike Wyckoff, he did not undertake this for the study of mankind, and unlike Flint he was not a tramp because he felt in his blood the call of the road. Mr. Franck's experience was a compromise between those of Wyckoff and Flint. He did not make sociological studies while traveling, and he did not answer the call of the blood to be free. But he began life as a laborer and earned his way through High School and the University of Michigan by selling papers and waiting on table during his school days, and in the summer vacations he worked on Western railroads as a section hand or in the harvest fields of the Northwest. He got his idea of a trip around the world while he was teaching French in the Central High School of Detroit. When he was 22 he started his tramp around the world, working his way from city to city. He left Detroit and worked his way to Glasgow tending cattle. He was a sailor from Marseilles to Egypt, and at Port Said he worked at pounding beans. He was errand boy at Cairo, in Egypt, circus clown at Colombo, street car inspector at Madras, and laborer at Yokohama. Now he is doing literary work with his own experiences as a basis from which to draw.

90,000,000 volumes in eighty years speaks eloquently to the contrary.

In the salesroom of the society are cases filled with duplicate copies of original books and manuscripts. The fact that the building is not fireproof is the reason why the interesting collection owned by the society is at present housed at the Lenox Library. This collection contains editions of the bible in more than 150 languages and dialects. Of English versions and revisions there are approximately 5,000 volumes exclusive of the manuscripts.

Here you will see one of the few "Vinegar bibles," Oxford, 1716, in which a printer's mistake has been immortalized, as in the "Breeches bible." There is a facsimile of the bible printed on white satin which was presented to the empress dowager of China in 1894 by 10,000 Christian women. There is a copy of the bible done into the Mongolian dialect by Schrecherowsky, a cripple, who also did it into Calmuck. There is a copy of the "Mazarin bible," the first book printed from movable metal types in two volumes, which appeared about the year 1455 and the first recognized copy of which was discovered in the library of Cardinal Mazarin—hence the title. It is called the "Gutenberg bible," from the name of the printer, and again termed the "Forty-two-line bible," from the number of lines in each column of its pages. Copies of the several editions of the Gutenberg bible have been sold for sums which would procure nearly 100,000 bibles now printed by the American society.

There are also copies of the Douay version of the bible used by Roman Catholic of the translations from the Latin vulgate made by the English college at Rheims, of the English version of the scriptures now in common use and of the revised edition, the work of English and American scholars, which appeared in 1885. Weed cutting by the city is to be commended; but when the weed cutter mows down a bunch of flowers planted on the side of the alley to hide an unsightly, but necessary, ash bin and leaves standing a few feet away some weeds that happen to be flowering, would it not be wise for the city to employ an instructor in botany?

The report that one automobile factory has in its possession eight thousand mortgages on homes, given for the purchase of automobiles, is an indication of the extent to which a "fad" will carry us. In many instances the expense of caring for the machines has proven so heavy that the owners have discontinued their use and have offered them for sale at one-fourth to one-third the original cost, while the mortgage on the home remains to be reckoned with when it shall become due. So far as we have observed, automobile purchasers in and about Seymour have been able financially to own their machines without the probability of future embarrassment, and it would be better if such were the condition everywhere.

NEWELL'S SCALP AT BALLINGER'S BELT

Thus Saith Rumor About Burgess Point.

Beverly, Mass., July 6.—The reclamation service was up for a long discussion at the summer capital. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger got there early, went over to the cottage on Burgess Point, and stayed there for five hours.

He left for Boston and Washington without having resigned; but, it is said in some circles here, with the scalp of Director F. H. Newell of the reclamation service in his portfolio. Mr. Ballinger absolutely refused to discuss the question of the removal of Mr. Newell. The White House preferred not to talk about it, too; but the impression prevailed that Mr. Newell's finish is coming swiftly.

The report that Mr. Newell is to go is based upon the undoubted fact that he and the secretary of the interior do not agree. It is pretty broadly hinted that with Newell in office the reclamation schemes of the secretary might meet with opposition. If Ballinger sought to get the head of Mr. Newell from the president it is likely that he got encouragement, at least.

Outside of the discussion which arose at the conference in relation to Mr. Newell, the president and his secretary of the interior discussed the land withdrawals affirmed recently by the president, and dwelt for some time on the classification of those lands by the department.

The secretary looked confident, stepped with a spring that betokened that some of the weight that rested on his shoulders a few months ago had lifted, and laughed at the rumors that he had come to resign. "I have not brought any resignation with me," said the secretary, "and I don't intend to leave any when I go away. I am not a quitter. I have gone into this thing and I intend to fight it out."

MORE TROUBLE SEEMS LIKELY

The "Stampede" Strike Clause May Cause Hitch.

BOTH SIDES ARE DETERMINED

The Joint Conference of Miners and Operators Which Will Meet at Terre Haute Tomorrow Is Confronted With a Problem Which Threatens to Lead to the Closing of the Mines Unless Wise Counsel Prevails.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 6.—When the Indiana operators and miners meet in joint conference tomorrow the first issue will be whether or not the clause in the wage contract imposing a fine of $1 a day on miners who go out on a "stampede" local strike—a strike without calling into play the arbitration plan that has been in use for several years, shall be retained. The contract has been completed by a joint committee, with the exception of this clause, which the miners on the committee say they will never accept. The convention of six weeks ago voted unanimously against it, and the temporary working agreement did not contain the clause. The operators at the time proposed that the temporary agreement state that the clause was "suspended," but the miners insisted on the word "eliminated," and this is their attitude toward the pending permanent agreement. It is understood that the officials of the miners wanted the mines to run for a few weeks without a fining clause, to prove that it was not needed, and that the men would not go on stampede strikes. The operators also admit that they have been in no hurry to bring about the joint conference, because stampede strikes were occurring with such frequency that they felt they were proving the need of the clause. There have been twenty-two of these strikes in the forty-two working days under the temporary agreement. In almost every instance the miners' officials have been unable to control the men.

Should the miners' convention refuse to agree to the clause, the operators will announce that the temporary agreement is at an end. Then the men will insist that, as the temporary agreement reads that it is to continue until a permanent contract is made, it must so continue, but the operators will take the ground that when the two sides fail to agree on a permanent contract the temporary one becomes extinct; that the word "temporary" itself means that it is not to run two years.

The operators say they will shut down their mines unless the men agree to the fining clause.

Says He Found Cook's Records. Colorado Springs, Col., July 6.—P. J. Carrigan, an intelligent seaman and placer miner from Alaska, who is here, declares that he himself has ascended Mt. McKinley and found the copper tube and records left by Dr. Cook. After examining the records and American flag in the tube, Carrigan restored it to the niche in the boulder where it was found.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root. Home of Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

BEAUTY and WISDOM

both demand that care and attention to the teeth which insures a charm to one's face and good health to the body. Modern dental methods have attained a skill based on scientific principles that rivals the perfection of Nature. The success achieved by DR. B. S. SHINNESS in the treatment of impaired teeth guarantees a perfect mouth to all who will apply.

DYNAMITERS AT WORK

Home of Illinois Preacher Damaged by Miscellaneous.

Mattoon, Ill., July 6.—The home of the Rev. R. B. Fisher of Neoga, who has made numerous attacks against bootleggers and gamblers from his pulpit, was dynamited. A bomb which was placed beneath the dwelling tore a large hole in the earth in one corner of the house and shattered every window. The Rev. Mr. Fisher and members of his family, who were in bed at the time, were uninjured. There is no clue to the dynamiters.

Dr. Hyde Sentenced.

Kansas City, July 6.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted of having poisoned Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by Judge Latschaw. An appeal to the state supreme court was filed by Hyde's attorney, and until it is taken up by the higher court the prisoner will remain in the county jail here.

MAJOR SYLVESTER

Washington Police Head Starts Crusade Against Fight Pictures.

POLICE CHIEFS MAY BAR FIGHT PICTURES

President of Association Takes Strong Ground.

Washington, July 6.—No pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight will be exhibited publicly in the District of Columbia. This dictum has gone forth from Major Richard Sylvester, chief of police, and also president of the International Police association.

In taking his stand, Major Sylvester called attention to the fact that this association of police chiefs at its last meeting at Birmingham, Ala., unanimously adopted a resolution in which 200 police chiefs in the United States subscribed to the assertion that moving pictures which were of such a character as to tend to the increase of crime corrupted public morals, and as such should be suppressed.

"The newspaper reports from Reno plainly bring the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures within the scope of this resolution," said Mayor Sylvester.

"The newspaper reports from other parts of the country indicate beyond all question that race hatred was engendered by the mere bulletins concerning this affair. Such occurrences are out of joint with the peace and good order of the present day in this country. Anything that tends to increase race hatred or sectionalism has no place whatever in the affairs of the American people if we live up to the spirit of today."

Reports from west and south indicate that the picture venture of the fight will not be much of a financial success. Mayor Schwab of Cincinnati, in a statement, said the pictures will not be permitted to be publicly exhibited in that city. The city council of Atlanta, Ga., will pass an ordinance at its meeting tonight expressly prohibiting the exhibition of the fight pictures in the city. In Baltimore the board of police commissioners has asked the mayor to prohibit the showing of the fight pictures. From South Africa has come a cablegram saying that all the bioscope halls in Johannesburg have refused offers to place the fight pictures, fearing they would cause outbreaks of latent racial antipathies.

The Fun of Aeroplanes

By Francis Arnold Collins.

IN the boy's calendar nowadays the aeroplane season comes in with sledding and runs all through skating, marble, top, kite flying and bicycle time. The delights of all the old games seem to be found in this marvelous new toy. The fun in throwing a top cannot compare with that of launching an aeroplane, while kite flying is a very poor substitute for the actual conquest of the air. To watch one of these fascinating little ships of the air, which you have fashioned and built with your own hands, actually rise from the earth and soar aloft with a swallow's swiftness, is perhaps the greatest boy's sport in the world. Certainly no new game or toy has ever taken such hold of the boy's imagination, and in so short a time enrolled such an army of enthusiasts.—St. Nicholas.

"Words, Words, Words."

By Hildegard Hawthorne.

IT is truly wonderful, when you stop to think of it, this power of words—just words printed in black on white, without even the help of the voice, without any appeal at all except to our imagination. Here they are, grouped in various ways, and as our eye travels over them all sorts of pictures arise before us. Our hearts grow sick with pain and sorrow, or we break out into laughter. We toss about on high seas or languish in fetid prisons, we are old or young, poor or rich, as the words choose. And we have only to rearrange these words to produce a quite opposite impression. Surely it is an amazing thing, more so perhaps than anything the words succeed in telling us.—St. Nicholas.

By the Shape of Your Nose

By Dr. Wood Hutchinson.

HERE is a tolerably close racial parallel between high-nosed and high-minded. The nose is not only our most human, but in a broad sense is our most intellectual feature. Growth of nose and shrinkage of jaw have been the two great correlates which have accompanied human progress. The moment, however, that we endeavor to go beyond these broad and loose generalizations, we find ourselves in trouble. This, from the fact that to every one who has kept his eyes open, that we find noses of practically all shapes, from the plebeian pug to the aristocratic aquiline, in individuals of the same race, and even in members of the same family, although the long and straight or convex noses would be far more numerous in the higher races and the abler families. It is comparatively seldom that a great man has a small nose, or even a short one, and instead of applying such terms as "proboscis," "beak," "carrot" and "beet" to a large, long aggressive nose, it should be regarded as a mark of breeding and as prima facie evidence of good blood and possible capacity.—Success.

Plato on the Sexes.

By Emily J. Putnam.

WE grant, he urged, that a bald-headed man is very different in one regard from a long-haired man; shall we then say that if bald men may become cobblers, long-haired men may not? And similarly, if we are sending for a doctor, shall we try to get one who excels in professional skill, or one who performs this or that function in reproduction? "None of the occupations which comprehend the ordering of a State belong to woman as woman, nor yet to man as man, but natural gifts are to be found here and there in both sexes alike; and, so far as her nature is concerned, the woman is admissible to all pursuits as well as the man. Shall we then appropriate all duties to men and none to women? On the contrary, we shall hold that one woman may have talents for medicine and another be without them; and that one may be musical and another unmusical; one woman may have qualifications for gymnastic exercises and for war, and another be unwarlike and without taste for gymnastics; there may be a love of knowledge in one woman and a distaste for it in another. There are also some women who are fit and other who are unfit for the office of guardian. As far as the guardianship of the State is concerned, there is no difference between the natures of the man and of the woman, but only various degrees of weakness and strength. Thus we shall have to select duly qualified women also, to share in the life and official labors of the duly qualified men, since we find that they are competent to the work, and of kindred nature with the men."—Putnam's.

Underground New York.

By Maurice Deutsch.

THE rock surface of Manhattan Island slopes from north to south, and passes below the tide level at about Tenth street. From this point south and below the water level the island consists of a great blanket of sand and silt deposits built up on the underlying rock by the tides and currents of recent geologic times. Beds of clay and sand vary in thickness, and in some places the clay does not appear at all. The sands vary to a considerable degree from the coarsest gravel to the most treacherous quicksands.

To give an idea of the fineness of this sand some samples were passed through sieves with meshes of various sizes, and finally through a 200-mesh sieve, the openings of which are about .035 of an inch in width. From 20 to 37 per cent. passed through the 200-mesh sieve. Little may we wonder then that such fine material, when saturated with water, should flow as readily as water itself, passing through every crevice and seeking its level just like any liquid. Herein lies the reason for the difficulties encountered in excavating in quicksands; or, should pumping be resorted to in order to drain a pit of water, this fine material will invariably be pumped with the water, and if the pumping be continued, will finally be drawn from under adjoining structures, eventually undermining them.

What is probably the oldest piece of wood in existence was found overlying the bed rock at a depth of about forty feet below the street level, on the site of the United States Express Building, in Greenwich street, and was covered by a stratum of hard pan about eleven feet thick, above which was a layer of quicksand and muck about thirty feet thick. The specimen of wood is slightly brown in color and is believed to have belonged to a now extinct species of cedar. As there was no way in which the wood could have been brought into this niche in the bed rock after the hard pan stratum had been deposited by the glaciers, it is evident that the tree of which this specimen formed a part had been growing before the glacial epoch.—Harper's Weekly.

For Beautiful Hands.

Mrs. Jamieson, the well-known author, was a great admirer of beautiful hands and thus expressed herself on her favorite "point" in a woman: "A white hand is a very desirable ornament, and a hand can never be white unless it be kept clean; nor is this all, for if a young lady excels her companions in this respect she must keep her hands in constant motion, which will cause the blood to circulate freely and have a wonderful effect. The motion recommended is working at the needle, brightening her house and making herself as useful as possible in the performance of all domestic

The Baby's Medicine.

The mistress of the home had been to a concert, and when she returned she was met by the servant with: "Baby was very ill while you were out, mum." "Oh, dear!" said Mrs. Youngwife. "Is he better?" "Oh, yes, mum; he's all right now, but he was bad at first. I found his medicine in the cupboard." "Good gracious! What have you given the child? There's no medicine in the cupboard." "Oh, yes, there is; it's written on it," and then the girl triumphantly produced a bottle labelled "Kid Reviver."—Lippincott's.

BIRTH OF AN ICEBERG.

The Dramatic Experience of Two Antarctic Explorers.

C. E. Borchgrevink, commander of the antarctic expedition of 1898, nearly lost his life by an accident of a nature so peculiar that it is probable no other man could duplicate the experience. At the foot of Mount Terror in February, 1900, he landed from his ship with Captain Jensen and three other men. Then, wishing to take a picture of the shore, he sent his boat back to the vessel to get a camera, and he and Captain Jensen were left alone on the rough beach. Before the boat returned a strange and awful thing happened. Mr. Borchgrevink told the story in the Outlook:

A roar and a rush, with tremendous explosions, shook the beach. The thought came to us that the perpendicular rocks above us were falling. Then we realized what was taking place. The mighty glacier immediately to the west of us was giving birth to an iceberg.

Millions of tons of ice plunged into the ocean. We could see nothing beyond an immense cloud of rolling snow. The water rose from the plunge of this antarctic monarch. I sang out to Jensen, "Now we shall have to face the wave!"

We rushed to the highest point of our limited beach, four feet above the sea. We saw advancing on us a dark green ridge with a white crest. I called to Jensen to struggle for dear life. We clutched the uneven rocks, with our backs toward the advancing water. Although it could not have taken more than seven minutes, the time seemed long before the water closed over our heads.

Floating upward, scrambling upon the rocks, I tore the nails from my flesh in my endeavor to keep from being dragged out. After the second wave we again felt the rocks under our feet.

At the place where Jensen and I first stood the rock was wet twenty feet above our heads. It was somewhat lower when it struck us. Where the wave had struck with full force the face of the rock had been altered, and rocks were still falling when the three men in the boat found us, bleeding and torn.

Two facts had saved us. To our right a small peninsula of ice protruded some five feet from the rock, and the rock itself bent toward the west. From the moment it struck the curve of the mountain rock to the west of us the wave took a course more easterly than where Jensen and I stood.

Wit of the Youngsters

Stranger—Little boy, why don't you go home and have your trousers mended? Little Boy—"Cause I'm economizing. A hole will last longer than a patch.

"My dollie is just getting over the measles," said little Elsie. "Has yours had 'em yet?" "No," replied small Margie, "but she's awfully fractious about her teeth, and I'm going to give her some pollygoric."

"What does ferment mean?" asked the teacher of the juvenile class. "It means to work," answered Freddy. "That's right," said the teacher. "Now, Tommy, you may write a sentence on your slate containing the word." A few minutes later Tommy handed up the following: "Tramps don't like to ferment."

Crawford in Kilts.

One of the best known guides in the capitol at Washington used to be Colonel Jasper E. Snow, formerly a Kansas City lawyer, who always sat in Republican conventions and voted for Blaine as long as there was a Blaine to vote for.

Colonel Snow used to tell this little story of the late Marjion Crawford. He had met Mr. Crawford in Florence, Italy, and when the novelist came to Washington Colonel Snow was the first person who showed him the doors made by the novelist's father, Thomas Crawford.

These are the Senate bronze doors on the eastern portico. They represent scenes connected with the Revolution and the founding of the government.

The panel representing Washington's reception at Trenton when on his way to his inauguration in New York contains among the populace portrait figures of the sculptor, his wife, his three children and Randolph Rogers, the sculptor of the main doors of the capitol.

The novelist, who had never seen the doors before, quickly identified his mother and father.

"Yes," he said, "mother used to wear her hair just like that."

Then, gazing at the largest child, a Fauntleroyish figure in kilt, with long, flowing hair, he added speculatively: "But I wonder if I ever really did look like that?"—New York Sun.

He Took the Hint.

"Do you believe in hypnotism?" he asked as he looked intently into her great brown eyes.

"I must," she answered, "with all the bravery she could summon. 'I know that you are going to kiss me, but I am powerless to protest.'"

Lingering Faith.

"That arctic explorer may yet dig up proofs."

"Where is he keeping them?"

"Oh, somewhere in cold storage."

London had a population of about two hundred and fifty thousand in 1740, in which year there were 2,725 deaths from smallpox.

FARM AND GARDEN

Hollow Concrete Fence Posts.

To construct hollow re-enforced concrete fence posts a few modifications of the ordinary mold are necessary, in addition to the core to be placed in the center of the post, writes C. A. Cook. The mold for an ordinary 4x4 inch post 7 feet long consists of a bottom, two sides and two end gates, all of which are held together by three iron clamps placed over the top of the sides after they are put together. The sides are held to the bottom by small dowel pins inserted in holes in the bottom, so that the sides may be readily revolved, leaving the finished post lying on the base to harden. One end gate must have a two-inch hole in it through which the core may be withdrawn.

The wooden core is constructed of 5 pieces and is 2 inches in diameter. Its full length should be 7½ feet. A round piece of soft wood may be sawed into five strips, so that when the central portion is withdrawn the narrow sides and then the wider sides may be removed from the concrete post.

The galvanized iron core tapers from 2 inches in diameter at the larger end to ¾ of an inch at the top, for a 7-foot post is 7 feet 2 inches long. This can be made by any tinsmith from good heavy galvanized iron, and should be closed at the smaller end.

The mold is fastened together, and about one inch of concrete is placed on the bottom before the core is put in position. After being wrapped with paper the core should be passed through the hole in the lower end gate. The paper covering will permit the removal of the core in twenty to thirty minutes after the post is made.

The galvanized iron core may be greased, but the paper is fully as effective.

The wooden core extends entirely through the post, and two end gates with two-inch holes in them are used with it. The metal core should be placed in the mold so that the smaller end is about two inches from the top of the post. After the core is in position the remainder of the concrete can be put in and the post set aside to harden until the core and molds can be removed.

Farm Work Horses.

If those who have horses in their charge on the farm would inaugurate a more systematic course of feeding, utilizing the cheaper forms of feed, much expense of winter feeding could be saved, and better and healthier horses would be the result. Adopt, for instance, the plan of feeding the horses in the morning only a stomachful of feed, a stomachful at noon, and only a stomachful at night. Such a course would give the horse's stomach a chance to digest the feed.

If a variety of feed is at hand, then feed one kind in the morning, another at noon and another at night. Regularity in feeding is important. If horses are watered frequently enough they will not drink too much at a time. Regular exercise in the open air is absolutely necessary to maintain a healthy condition. Spasmodic exercising alternating with periods of inactivity is dangerous and unprofitable. The proper use of the means at command on the farm will insure a good condition of the horses that will look well, be well and give excellent service.—N. A. Clapp.

Origin of the Potato.

The cultivated potato is a native of the Chilean and Peruvian Andes, but extends in original type as far north as Colorado, where a wild form is occasional. Wild varieties of the potato exist in many parts of the world, but nowhere was it cultivated before the discovery of the western continent save in North and South America. It was taken to Europe, probably from Peru to Spain, early in the sixteenth century. It seems Sir Francis Drake introduced it into England in 1586, though Sir Walter Raleigh is said to have done this a year before. It was first regarded as a curiosity, and so remained until the latter part of the eighteenth century, though the Royal Society of London in 1663 recommended it as a possible safeguard against famine among the Irish peasantry.

A New Insecticide.

Prof. C. P. Gillette, of the Colorado Agricultural College, has discovered a new insecticide for the codlin moth, which has proved effective in destroying the worms, and probably will be found not so injurious to apple trees as other arsenical poisons. Sulphide of arsenic is the name of the new poison. It comes cheaper than the arsenics now in use.

Planting Potatoes.

A potato specialist gives this advice: Prefer clover sod manured. Plow about four inches deep, planting in every third furrow. Plant about last week in May. Don't plant when dew is on the clover, as it is apt to rot the potatoes. Run over the potato ground with a disk just when the potatoes are coming up, then harrow. Leave two eyes when cutting seed potatoes. Don't cut too long before planting. Use one pound paris green to 100 pounds plaster and as a rule do not go over the potatoes more than once.

A Three-Pen Poultry House.

The cut shows a very useful poultry house for three pens of fowls, with yards arranged for the same number. The house is 30x30 feet and will accommodate 100 fowls. The hallway takes but little room out of the interior and yet it communicates with all three pens. The inside divisions are of wire netting, allowing the sunshine that enters at the side of the house to fall into the pens; but the house should be so located that three sides may receive morning, noon and afternoon sun. The plan is followed, according to Orange Judd Farmer, for dividing the yard outside as for dividing the space inside the house. This gives a large amount of yard space, with yards conveniently located. This building is shingled all over the outside, with the heaviest building paper under the shingles, and may either be sheathed or lathed and plastered inside.

Caring for Grapes.

Rules for grapes culture from the experiment station record, United States Department of Agriculture:

The main points in grape culture are summarized as follows:

With a few exceptions grapes of the Lubrusca species, of which the Concord may be taken as the type, are the most satisfactory for general planting.

A warm, rich, well drained soil is best for the grape.

Almost all vines should be planted at least eight feet apart.

Strong one-year-old vines are most desirable for planting.

Thorough shallow cultivation is essential.

The pruning of the first two years must be done with reference to the system under which the vine is to be trained after it begins fruiting. During this time the vine should become thoroughly established.

The best time for the principal pruning is soon after the leaves drop in autumn, but pruning can be done at any time during the winter when the vines are not frozen. Summer pruning consists of pinching lateral branches in order to encourage the development of the fruit and the bearing wood for the succeeding year.

The long arm, short spur system of training is usually the most satisfactory for the inexperienced grower, but the renewal systems are highly recommended.

Grafting Wax.

In an iron pot melt over the fire 100 parts of the finest asphalt, add 600 parts brown pitch, until, with stirring, it is fluid; then pour in 600 parts of melted yellow beeswax. The fire must not be too hot at this time. When it is all well mixed, add 600 parts of thick turpentine, stir it well and pour into it 600 parts of refined tallow. Lift it from the fire, stir until you begin to note that it is cooling, and then drop in, stirring steadily, very carefully, because the mass will at once rise up, 250 to 500 parts of alcohol, according to the consistency you wish it to have.

Removing a Small Stump.

By fastening the chain to one of the large roots and bringing it across the top of the stump, a leverage can be secured to take full advantage of the strength of the horses.

The Morgan Horse.

Forty years ago the Morgans were the favorite road horses. This strain traces to a single ancestor, Justin Morgan, foaled in Vermont in 1793, his blood being largely thoroughbred. From him descended the Black Hawk, Bashaw, Goldust, Ethan Allen, Ben Franklin, General Knox and Daniel Lambert families. The Morgan type is short of leg, thick and round barrel, intelligent and of great courage and endurance.

Green Food for Chickens.

If you have your own gians feed as great a variety as you have. Cracked wheat, cracked Kaffir corn and cracked corn are all good, but something in place of meat should be given, either beef scraps or blood meal, also charcoal and grit.

The Honey Product.

The country's honey product for last year is estimated at $25,000,000. There are 7,000 beekeepers in the country and the product of their hives was sufficient to fill a train of cars long enough to reach from New York to Buffalo.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. EMMA LMSL, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Her Constant Watchfulness.

"For mercy's sake, Johnny!" exclaimed Mrs. Lapsling, "take that match out of baby's mouth. Don't you know match heads are poisonous? They contain ever so much Bosphorus!"

IT WEARS YOU OUT.

Kidney Troubles Lower the Vitality of the Whole Body.

Don't wait for serious illness; begin using Doan's Kidney Pills when you first feel backache or notice urinary disorders.

David P. Corey, 236 W. Washington St., Ionia, Mich., says: "I had kidney trouble so badly that for six months I could only get around with a cane or crutches. The backache grew gradually worse until I was compelled to take to my bed. While still in bed I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and gradually improved until well."

The Sunny Side of Superstition.
That there is anything genial, cheering or therapeutically valuable about superstition may seem a tall statement. The adjective generally associated with it is "dark." On the contrary, there is something very brightening about a four-leaf clover. Who is not a little more of an optimist for picking up a horseshoe? What lonely farmer's wife, storm-bound on a winter afternoon, with unwelcome leisure on her hands, but feels a little quickening of the pulse as she drops her scissors and beholds them sticking up in the carpet? Or discovers that she has laid an extra place at the table? Company signs are the commonest and welcomed of all superstitions. The scissors—the needle—the dishcloth—the fork—the Saturday sneeze, all inculcate hospitality, and reward it, by an unexpected visitor. If the needle slants as it stands up in the crack of the floor, it foretells a gentleman! Run, young daughters of the house, and put a blue bow in your hair.—Atlantic Monthly.

Had Measured It.

"How far," asked the first automobilist as they met at a turn in the road, "is it from here to the next town where there's a repair shop?" "Eleven hills, three bad bridges, one long stretch of deep sand, and two arrests," answered the second automobilist.

How to Cook Asparagus.

Asparagus should be boiled gently in well salted water, standing if possible to save the heads. The shoots tied together in one bunch should be put into the pot so that the water will reach about half-way up. When they have boiled some ten or fifteen minutes they should be laid on their side so that served with white sauce or with nothing but butter if the full asparagus taste is to be brought out, this makes one of the real delicacies of the table.

Rhubarb Ginger.

Wash but do not peel the rhubarb. The pink skin gives it a pretty color. Measure the rhubarb and allow as much sugar as you have fruit. To four pounds sugar and rhubarb allow the juice of two lemons and the yellow rinds, cut thin, with an eighth of a pound of green ginger root cut in thin slices. Cook until thick as marmalade.

Mexican Scrambled Eggs.

When you are tired of plain scrambled eggs try them as they are cooked in Mexico. Roast a dozen fresh green peppers a few minutes, peel, remove the seeds and chop, when they should be boiled in a very little water until tender, and season well with butter. Beat six or eight eggs, add with salt to the peppers and fry all for a moment in hot butter.

Raisin Fudge.

Two cups sugar, one cup milk, buter size of an egg, one-half cup chocolate. Cook, stirring constantly, until bubbles break slowly. Have ready one-half pound walnuts chopped fine, and one pound chopped seeded raisins. Add these, stirring until stiff, and pour into buttered pans. Mark in squares when sufficiently cool.

Tough Steak.

To make steaks very tender lay them, before cooking, on a flat dish containing three tablespoonfuls of salad oil and one of vinegar, well mixed together. Each side of the steak should be soaked for thirty minutes—making an hour in all—just before cooking.

Quick Brown Bread.

Two cups Graham flour, one cup sour milk, one-half cup molasses, two tablespoonfuls sugar, pinch of salt, one teaspoonful soda in two tablespoonfuls warm water, three-fourths cup raisins chopped and floured. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven. Excellent.

Hints About the House.

Gritty soaps must never be used for washing paints.

In wiping the kitchen range use a small bag or a glove.

Paper bags which accumulate so fast may be put to good use in the kitchen.

Rub mirrors with methylated spirits, and polish with a touch of blue powder.

One tablespoon of ammonia to a quart of water will clean gold or silver jewelry.

Rolls may be rewarmed and made crisp and good if placed in a paper bag in a hot oven.

The flat taste of boiled water may be removed by pouring from one pitcher to another in the open air.

Meats and fish which spatter in cooking may be seared first and then placed in the oven to finish cooking.

Ordinary wall papers may be cleaned with dough, or rubbed with a soft, clean flannel dipped in fine oatmeal.

A baking powder box with a small hole in the bottom makes a sharp, quick chopper for use when warming over potatoes or vegetables.

When boiled custard is slightly overcooked it may be brought back to the right consistency if it be thoroughly beaten with an egg beater.

When beating upholstered furniture in the house, place a damp cloth over the pieces. The dust adheres to the cloth and does not rise to the room.

The soiled lace yoke of a dress need not generally be removed to be cleaned. A plan which usually restores its pristine freshness is to rub powdered starch into the lace, let it lie some hours and then brush it out. The starch absorbs both grease and dust.

Most every housekeeper knows what a job it is to clean a grater after grating coconut, lemons, or, in fact, everything she grates. If she will have handy a small scrubbing brush or hand scrub, as they are called, and scrub with this every particle will come out immediately and leave the grater sweet and clean.

Baby's Scalp All Crusted Over.

"Our little daughter, when three months old, began to break out on the head and we had the best doctors to treat her, but they did not do her any good. They said she had eczema. Her scalp was a solid scale all over. The burning and itching was so severe that she could not rest, day or night. We had about given up all hopes when we read of the Cuticura Remedies. We at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and followed directions carefully. After the first dose of the Cuticura Resolvent, we used the Cuticura Soap freely and applied the Cuticura Ointment. Then she began to improve rapidly and in two weeks the scale came off her head and new hair began to grow. In a very short time she was well. She is now sixteen years of age and a picture of health. We used the Cuticura Remedies about five weeks, regularly, and then we could not tell she had been affected by the disease. We used no other treatments after we found out what the Cuticura Remedies would do for her. J. Fish and Ella M. Fish, Mt. Vernon, Ky., Oct. 12, 1903."

Somebody Sorry.

Sunday School Teacher—Now, children, the subject is the story of the Prodigal Son. Can any one tell me who was glad when the prodigal returned?

"The father," was the unanimous response.

"And who was sorry?" asked the teacher.

Power of Growing Trees.

Those who wish to see the enormous power of a growing tree can do so by visiting a street in Ottawa. Two trees that were enclosed by the cement sidewalk when it was built many years ago have split the slabs into fragments by huge cracks extending in several directions.

The breaking tensile strength of neat cement as used for the city is 500 pounds per square inch. With the mixture as used in the sidewalks an expert estimated it would be about 160 pounds per square inch. There are several of these cracks, so the pressure must have been still more than for one fracture. The trees are a chestnut and a soft maple. A point worthy of note in this connection is that when healthy trees are enclosed by concrete walks space should be left for expansion at least equal to the average size of the full growth of the tree.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a pure extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

TRYING OUT THE
ADMINISTRATIONCol. Roosevelt Taking Counsel
With Insurgents.

HAVING DAILY CONFERENCES

Yesterday It Was Miles Poindexter, One of the Militant Insurgents; Tomorrow It Will Be Another Delegation of the Clan, and So on Until the Opponents of the Taft Administration Have Had a Full Hearing.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 6.—If Colonel Roosevelt is going to fall in line and endorse the administration, as a good many political sharps think he will do, he is employing a novel method of making his attitude known.

The colonel has announced that several of the most rabid insurgents in the country are coming to Sagamore Hill tomorrow. The conference gives indication of being the most important gathering he has taken part in for some time. Roosevelt refused to give out the names of the approaching insurgents. It has been stated that the ex-president is cautiously feeling his way before he lets the public in on how he feels toward the administration. It has been remarked also that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy is the rock on which Roosevelt and Taft are likely to split. Yesterday, for the first time, the colonel defined clearly his opposition to Secretary Ballinger by telling Representative Miles Poindexter that he will endorse his candidacy in the fight for the United States senatorship against Senator Piles of Washington. Piles is identified with the Ballinger wing of the Republican party in the state of Washington. Poindexter is an out-and-out supporter of Pinchot and a militant insurgent.

There is, of course, the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt will support the administration in due time, but he is in no hurry about it. He himself has summoned nearly every one of his political visitors to Sagamore Hill. He wants to hear the insurgent side of the story first, and then perhaps later he may ask some of the regulars to drop in and explain the stand they have taken during his absence. Judging from his program the colonel is going to work the New York state and national game together because he thinks they are pretty closely related.

SAD DAYS AT RENO

Everybody There Is Busted, Worn Out and Full of Grouch.

Reno, July 6.—James J. Jeffries left last night, accompanied by his wife, Jim Corbett, Sam Berger and the more humble members of his training camp. The beaten ex-champ said he was going back to his ranch in Los Angeles county, and he reiterated his statement that you could believe him, he was not going to fight again.

Johnson, the winner of the battle, departed for the east a few hours after the end of the fight, in a blaze of glory. He will spend tomorrow with his mother in Chicago, and Friday he will go on to New York, where he is scheduled to appear in vaudeville on Monday night. These are sad days in Reno. Tired, "busted," a bad taste in the mouth, all the nervous relaxation following the pent-up emotions of the past ten days, no dealer town exists in the country than Reno. In the first place, everybody in Reno except the cannery storekeepers, hotel men and keepers of lodging houses are dead broke because of their belief in the invincibility of Jeff. Nobody will ever know how much money was bet on Jeff in Corbett's poolroom here, because Corbett himself has packed up his charts and left for Frisco. A minority of sports made a great cleanup, but just who they are nobody seems to know.

Perhaps the most worried people in Reno are the traffic handlers of the railroad. The traffic has been tremendous. The rush out of Reno commenced within an hour after the fight ended, and it is still on in full swing. Something like 100 special trains and special cars on regular trains have been dumped on the main overland lines of track, and they are all filled with people who have a grouch.

Promoter Rickard says the total receipts for admission to the arena amounted to $270,775. Of the total number of 18,000 present at the fight, 15,760 paid to get in, 760 received complimentary tickets and about 1,500 climbed over the fence.

THE FULLER FUNERAL

Body of the Late Chief Justice Will Be Buried at Chicago.

Sorrento, Me., July 6.—The services attending the funeral of the late Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller were held at "Mainstay," the Fuller summer residence, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The services were of a simple nature and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Freeman. The body, accompanied by the mourning party, will be taken on the 4:40 p. m. steamer to Mount Desert ferry, where the late afternoon express will take it and the mourners to Boston. There connections will be made for an early train to Chicago tomorrow. The day of the funeral in Chicago has not been decided, but it will be either Friday or Saturday.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Seymour Citizen Shows You the Sure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, back ache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Seymour testimony:

Mrs. H. Moritz, 405 E. Fifth street, Seymour, Ind., says: "It gives me great pleasure to confirm all I previously said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, when I publicly recommended them. This remedy was used by a member of my family and it effected a permanent cure of kidney troubles."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

AWAKENED.

After a Twenty-Six Hours Hypnotic Sleep.

Ray Hartley, who was placed in a hypnotic sleep and buried at the park Monday afternoon, was awakened Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A large crowd was present when John Bartlett, the hypnotist, lifted the spell which had held Hartley for twenty-six hours.

When the young man awakened he was in good condition and no worse for his long sleep. He was asked what day it was and answered "Monday." As to the time he thought it was about 2:15 o'clock so that fifteen minutes seemed to measure the time he thought he had been dozing.

Saved At Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

RACE FRICTION
FOLLOWS FIGHTFurther Trouble Reported
Throughout the South.

NEW ORLEANS BADLY STIRRED

Numerous Riots Were Reported Despite Efforts to Prevent Stimulation of Race Feeling, and Some Loss of Life Attended the Outbreaks—Rioting at Clarksburg Was of an Aggressive Character and Troops May Be Called Out.

New Orleans, July 6.—As was expected, the Jeffries-Johnson fight and its termination caused a great deal of racial friction here, several riots and some loss of life. The negroes kept to themselves during the day and the bulletins were not given out to mixed audiences. Joe Williams, Emile Hampson and Jim Lee are at the Charity hospital, having been shot by two young white men. The latter met the negroes on the street and remarked that as Johnson had whipped a white man, they proposed to kill every negro they met, and then opened fire, shooting at the negroes, and then took to flight when the negroes of the neighborhood poured from houses. Ellis Washington, a negro, was badly beaten by a number of white men who were angry over Jeff's defeat. John Hudson, a white boy, was badly slashed by a negro for shouting for Jeffries, and a dozen negroes were locked up for disorderly conduct growing out of the prize fight. In a fight between whites and negroes at Alsatia and Enoka, in Madison parish, L. E. Roberts, a white man, and Henry Anderson, a negro, were killed and two other negroes mortally wounded.

Washington Was Stirred Up.

Washington, July 6.—The police courts in Washington were crowded Tuesday with white and negro prisoners in more or less battered condition as the result of fights which broke out following the announcement that Johnson had whipped Jeff. Cuts on the head, stab wounds on the body, blackened eyes and other injuries were sustained by the victims of the exciting and strenuous night. The most serious affray was one in which Private Scott of Battery C. Third artillery, stationed at Fort Hunt, was a victim. He was on his way home in a streetcar, and in attempting to disarm a negro who was brandishing a razor, was perhaps fatally slashed in the abdomen. His assailant escaped.

The Situation in West Virginia.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 6.—Rioting between whites and blacks was renewed Tuesday, and all day long there were encounters between a mob of several hundred white men and negroes. Patrick McGanna, white, was injured so severely that he may die. A white man named Jordan was beaten and a mob of whites quickly formed, bent on lynching the disturbing negroes, who escaped the vengeance of the mob by hiding. The police seem powerless to stop the disorder, and if it continues state troops will be called for. The situation is critical and more trouble is anticipated.

A Texas Lynching.

Corsicana, Tex., July 6.—A negro entered the home of Hub Bailey, a merchant at Rodini, and, brandishing a knife, threatened Mrs. Bailey, a bride of three months, who grappled with him, took the weapon and forced the negro to flee. Poses caught the fugitive and hanged him.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson and party, enroute around the world, have arrived at Honolulu.

George Q. Biegler, auditor of the American National bank at Indianapolis, is to be appointed a national bank examiner.

Mrs. Eliza Haverly, widow of Colonel Jack Haverly, the best-known of all the old-time minstrel men, is dead at New York.

Spurned by the girl he loved, Edward Weiss, of Detroit shot and killed Gertrude Lubowitz and turned the weapon on himself. He is dying.

A bulletin just issued by the Illinois state board of agriculture giving the condition of the crops on June 20 shows corn to be in poor condition.

One person was killed and thirty seriously injured, two of them probably fatally, when a bridge collapsed during a Fourth of July celebration at Utica, Ill.

Disastrous floods are reported from localities south of Monterey, Mexico. The town of Venada was almost destroyed and four persons were drowned.

The battle standard of the Emperor Montezuma, carried by the Aztec king in the battle with the invading Spaniards under Cortez in 1502, has been found in the museum of natural history in Vienna.

The "sane Fourth" as observed in many cities cut down the total deaths throughout the country from fireworks and firearms. The deaths thus far reported number 35; last year, 48. The injured total 2,200; last year, 2,700.

S. S. S. CURES RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood. The uratic impurity gets into the circulation by absorption, usually because of constipation, weak kidneys, and other systemic irregularities. Then the blood becomes weak and sour and irritating urate particles are formed in this vital fluid. When in this impure condition the blood can not furnish the necessary amount of nourishment to the different muscles, tendons, nerves and ligaments of the body. Instead it constantly steepens them in the briny acid matter, and the gritty, urate particles collect in the joints, which causes the pains, aches and soreness of Rheumatism. Liniments, plasters, etc. may relieve the acute pain of an attack of Rheumatism, but such treatment does not reach the blood and therefore can have no permanent good effect. There is but one way to cure Rheumatism and that is to purify the blood of the acid poison. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head. It removes the cause for the reason that it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It filters out every trace of the sour, inflammatory matter, cools the acid-heated circulation, adds richness and nourishment to the blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. does not patch up, it cures permanently. S. S. S. is especially valuable as a remedy for Rheumatism because it does not contain a particle of harmful mineral in any form. It is purely vegetable, a fine tonic as well as blood purifier. Book on Rheumatism sent free to all who write.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE
QUITE OPTIMISTIC

Says Indiana Will Be Republican by 50,000.

Washington, July 6.—Senator Beveridge of Indiana bobbed in town yesterday, remained a minute or two, and then bobbed out again. Mr. Beveridge is on his way to Dublin, N. H., where he will spend the summer with his family. Beveridge is full of hope and optimism, especially about Beveridge. He figures the Republicans will carry Indiana this fall by 50,000.

"There is nothing to it," said Mr. Beveridge. "The old state will come around this year. The croakers may croak to their hearts' content, but Indiana will be safely Republican—I think it is conservative to say that we shall win by a majority of 50,000."

Beveridge was asked if it was his purpose to visit Oyster Bay on his way north. He dodged the question at first, but when pressed for an answer replied in the negative.

PRESSING CHARGES

Baumgarten Bankruptcy Case Taken Into Federal Court.

Cincinnati, July 6.—Fraud, the concealment of about $100,000 assets, the swearing of numerous false oaths and the failure to keep records of transactions involving over half a million dollars—these are the charges made against David L. Baumgarten, European and American syndicate promoter of this city.

The allegations appear in a document filed in the United States court containing specifications why it is declared Baumgarten should not be released from bankruptcy.
